

Yoni is looking for a

Visual Creative Intern

Hey you. Yes, you. That bloody creative and ambitious visual storyteller. Yoni wants you to help translate our story into fantastic visuals, graphics and Instagram content. As Visual Creative Intern you will create and innovate social media content that reflects Yoni's values: open-minded, daring, unconventional, transparent and aware. Do you live and breathe these values? Are they in your blood? Then you're who we're looking for. Together with the marketing team you will be responsible for online visual content. And you'll do this all according to the holy commandments of our Brand Bible.

Who are you? You're extremely creative and can think on a conceptual level. Instagram is your jam. You're up to date on all visual and social media trends. You know that an Instagram story doesn't have the dimensions of a Spielberg film. Your blood starts pumping when you see the Yoni Instagram. You're itching to get us to 50k followers. You have digital design skills and you have experience with the most essential tools like Photoshop, InDesign and Illustrator. You're organized and you work structurally. You're a bit of a perfectionist and are capable of upholding a high quality of work. You're also outspoken and bold enough to break taboos.

Requirements:

- Studying (or studied) design or media
- Photoshop and InDesign skills
- Up to date on social media trends and developments.
- Eye for detail
- Available for a minimum of 4 days a week
- Yoni's mission speaks to you

We'll pamper you

We offer a working environment where you can develop your skills and there's room to learn and make mistakes. Working for Yoni tends to get dangerously fun. At our office at the Impact Hub, we'll make sure you'll get as much (fairchain) coffee, chocolate (Tony's!) and obviously as many menstrual products as you (or the ladies in your life) need. We handle our health, our colleagues and the environment with care. But sometimes we deliberately choose to be irresponsible. That's what we call Thursday afternoon drinks.

About Yoni

Yoni believes that every woman has the right to know what is in her tampons, pads and pantyliners. That's why we put what's in the box on the box. That doesn't sound exceptional, but it actually is. Lots of big brands do not tell you what is in their products. Because the vagina is one of the most absorbent part of the body, we choose 100% organic cotton. No plastics, no perfume, no secrets. By breaking the silence around menstruation and by offering an alternative, we're here to revolutionize the industry! Join us.

Sounds like you?

Send your CV and motivation to info@yoni.care before the 15th of April.
